

Guidelines to use amfori BSCI Logo

The amfori logo and boilerplates show corporate membership. They must never act as product certifications, endorsements, or stand-alone graphics. Review the official amfori Member Toolkit Guidelines for full assets and rules.

Allowed Uses

- Place the logo with approved boilerplate text on corporate websites, sustainability reports, and business signage.
- Link the digital logo directly to www.amfori.org whenever technically possible.
- Use it strictly to display open commitment to sustainable trade.

Prohibited Uses

- Never use the logo or boilerplate text on product items, product tags, product labels, or retail packaging.
- Never print the graphics on shipping cartons, shoe boxes, or item wrapping.
- Never apply the logo in e-commerce website footers or near specific merchandise rows that imply product endorsement.
- Never use the visuals to indicate formal product certification, as amfori is not a certifying body.

amfori BSCI Logo to use it on company website

To display your amfori alignment on a corporate website, you must avoid using the standalone logo on its own. Because amfori BSCI is a continuous improvement process and not a formal certification, displaying an isolated logo often misleads visitors into thinking your specific products are "certified."

Instead, you must use the official amfori Member Boilerplate, which bundles the logo alongside pre-approved explanatory text.

Where You Can (and Cannot) Place It

✓ Approved Locations: You can safely place the boilerplate on high-level corporate pages, such as your "About Us" page, a dedicated "Sustainability / CSR" tab, or an "Our Partners" section.

⚠ Prohibited Locations: You must never place it in the global website footer or on individual product listing pages. Because a footer replicates across every page, placing it there mistakenly implies that every product you sell is individually endorsed by amfori.

Visual Implementation Rules

The "Clear Space" Rule: You must maintain a protective buffer of empty space around the logo equal to the height of the lowercase letter "a" in the amfori text. No other text, graphics, or borders can infringe on this space.

Color Schemes: The boilerplate must be displayed in its official amfori Blue (Hex #0055a4) on a white background. If your website uses a dark theme, you must use the official all-white inverse version provided in the toolkit.

Active Hyperlink: The digital boilerplate image must function as a clickable link that opens the Official amfori Website in a new browser tab.

How to Get the Correct Files

Do not copy or screenshot images from Google or other websites, as they will lack the approved text layout and necessary resolution.

Have your company's administrator log into the amfori Sustainability Platform. Head over to the Member Help Center or Resource Library.

Download the digital website package from the latest amfori Member Toolkit Guidelines. They provide pre-built PNG and SVG files tailored specifically for light and dark web backgrounds.

To ensure your web layout stays fully compliant, are you planning to place this on a general corporate "About Us" page, or do you have a dedicated sustainability section where you'll be listing your various frameworks?
